- Business environment and consumer confidence started to improve in Europe during the third quarter but demand was still cautious and volatile
- In Finland economic indicators were negative and the retail environment weak, with many retailers reporting a strong decline in sales towards the end of the quarter
- In North America, federal budget uncertainty continued and businesses were conservative with their spending
- Employment continued to improve, albeit slowly, and retail growth slowed from the first half of the year
- Institutional spending was hampered by the federal budget issues

Outlook for 2013

- Business environment and consumer confidence in Europe started to improve during the third quarter, except for Finland, which is a significant market for Fiskars.
- Uncertainty related changes in manufacturing and significant rollouts of common systems that took place in the third quarter may temporarily impact sales and operational efficiency during the rest of the year, and increase fixed costs.
- Following the acquisition of Royal Copenhagen, the weight of the fourth quarter in full-year sales and profit has further increased. Negative issues related to demand for Home products during the last quarter could affect the full-year results.
- We expect the Group's full-year 2013 net sales and operating profit excluding non-recurring items to be above 2012 levels.
